

Inspire a Wide Range of Students with Custom Automations

David Eby
Vice President of marketing
New England College

Jason Pfaff
Vice-President
Red Ventures

Agenda

In this webinar, Jason Pfaff, VP at Red Ventures, and David Eby, VP Marketing at New England College, will cover a 3-step framework for more effectively identifying, supporting, and managing the many different types of students your college recruits.

You'll discover forward-leaning and actionable ideas to take back to your team to better support student success, including how to:

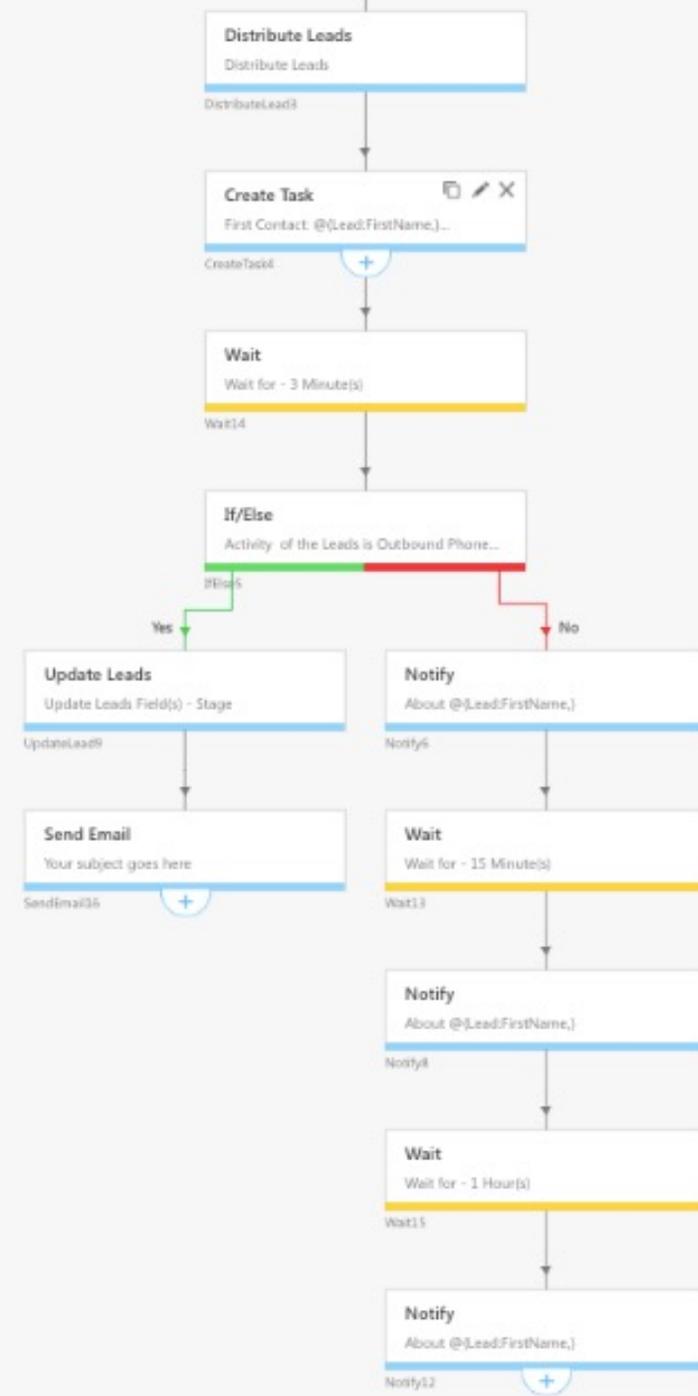

- Identify trends influencing an increase in the number of unique student types pursuing higher education
- Think more strategically about your student population
- Better identify unique segments within your student population and respond to their needs
- Use powerful automations to build enrollment and support journeys customized by student type

Different use-cases solved by automation

Automation engaging multiple student types

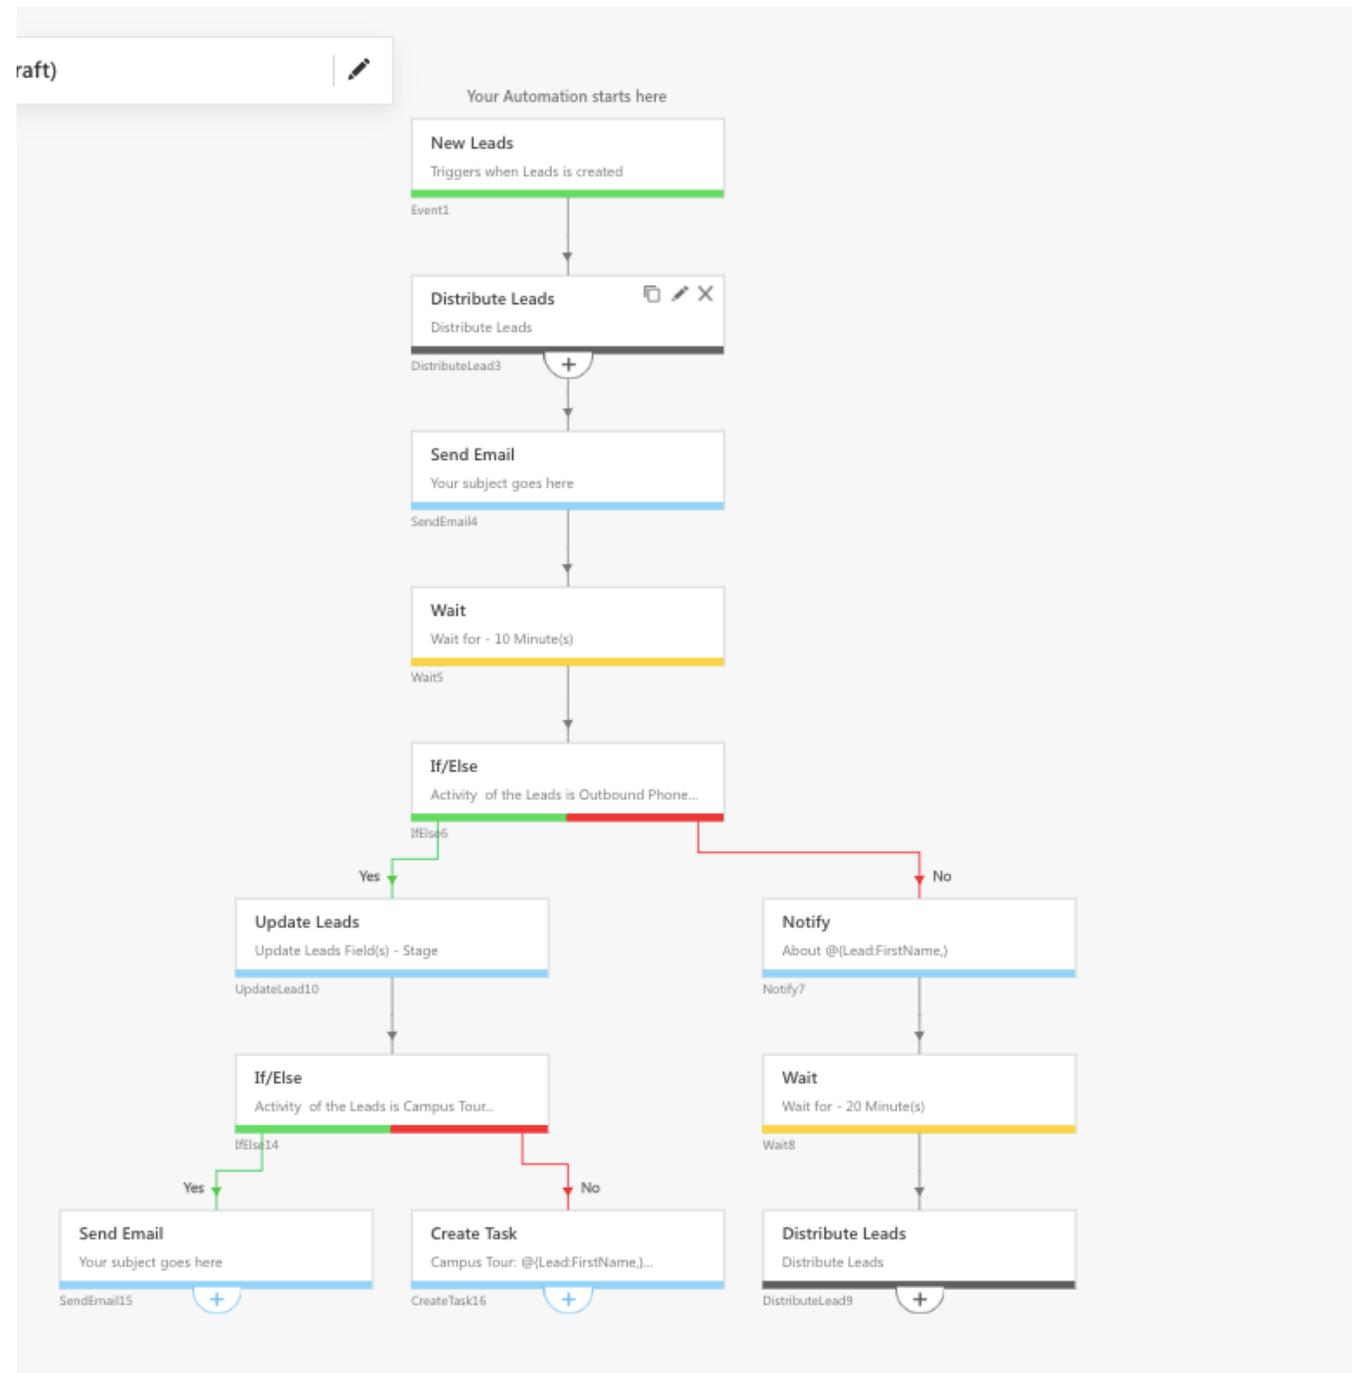

Automation ensuring no enquiry slips through the cracks

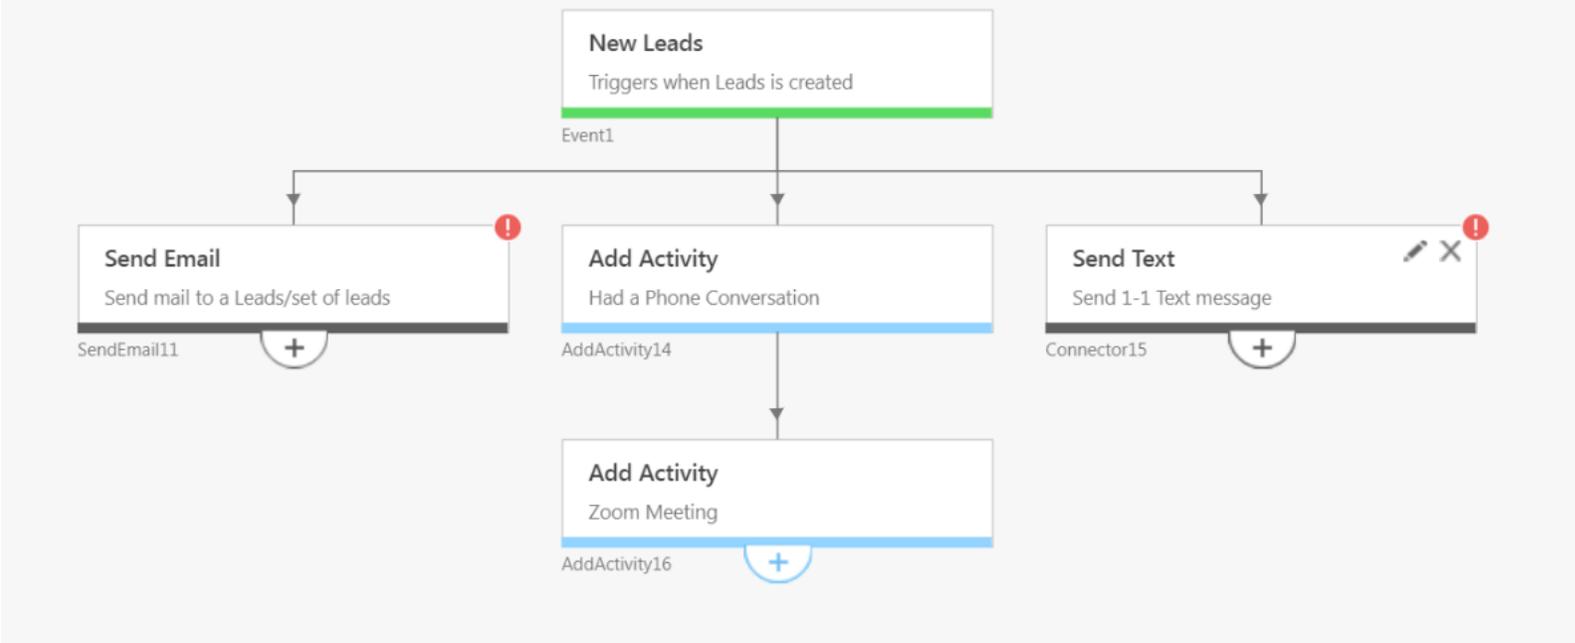

Automation assigning prospects to the right campus

Automation auto- scheduling campus tours

Automation for omni-channel communication

Questions?

Grow Enrollments with LeadSquared

sales@leadsquared.com

Trusted by 800+ education institutes

